Notice concerning purchase and cancellation of Euro-yen convertible bonds with stock acquisition rights due in 2012

Tokyo, March 19, 2009—FinTech Global Incorporated (hereafter “the Company”) gives notice of a resolution by the Board of Directors on this date to execute optional redemption, that is, purchase and cancellation, of Euro-yen convertible bonds issued by the Company with stock acquisition rights due in 2012. Details regarding optional redemption are presented below.

Particulars

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1. Specified bonds | Euro-yen Convertible Bonds with Stock Acquisition Rights Due 2012 |
| 2. Amount to be purchased and cancelled (par value) | The target amount is ¥10 billion (par value), with an upper limit of ¥15 billion (par value). The Company will sound out holders of specified bonds regarding optional redemption during the purchase period, from March 19, 2009, to March 26, 2009. |
| 3. Purchase period | March 19, 2009, to March 26, 2009 |
| 4. Cancellation period | March 27, 2009 to March 31, 2009 |
| 5. Principal amount outstanding after cancellation | ¥12,170 million (par value) [if purchase and cancellation reaches target of ¥10 billion (par value)]. |

6. Impact on fiscal results

Given current market conditions, the Company could record a gain of approximately ¥7 billion under extraordinary profit, on the purchase and cancellation of a ¥10 billion (par value) portion of the euro-yen issue. However, the amount actually purchased and cancelled may differ from the aforementioned target. Moreover, the purchase price may differ from current assumptions. One or both factors could cause the amount recorded under extraordinary profit to be higher, or lower, than anticipated. Management will provide separate notification in the event the extraordinary profit amount is significantly different from expectations. For second-quarter and full-year performance forecasts, please refer to the press release “Notice concerning the booking of valuation losses on inventory, additional allowance for doubtful accounts, and loss on doubtful accounts, as well as transfer of investment stake in silent partnership (tokumei kumiai), following changes in subsidiary status”, also dated March 19, 2009.
